

Community Safety Consultation 2019

People living and working in Rutland are being asked to share their views about community safety as part of a month-long consultation, organised by The Safer Rutland Partnership.

The Safer Rutland Partnership involves Rutland County Council, Leicestershire Police, offender management services, Leicestershire Fire and Rescue Service, public health and voluntary organisations, all of whom work together with communities to reduce crime and antisocial behaviour.

The community safety consultation aims to find out more about the issues that affect and concern local people the most, helping the Safer Rutland Partnership to target its efforts and meet local concerns.

The community safety consultation runs until Friday 12 April 2019. You can take part in the consultation by completing a short online questionnaire.
